WIRE FROM PERSHING

Funston Receives Official Word From American Expeditionary Forces Confirming Earlier Rumors.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

San Antonio, March 31.—Dispatches from General Pershing announce that on March 29th the American forces came up with a detachment of five hundred of the Villa forces and in a pitched engagement completely routed them, capturing two machine guns, a large quantity of ammunition and many cavalry horses. The Villa losses were thirty dead, and the United States troops lost but four wounded.

Lopez Killed.

Among the dead General Pershing announces is an officer named Lopez, thought to be the Mexican rebel killed at San Ysabel. General San Hernandez is also among the wounded and captured Mexicans. It was Colonel Dodd's command that made the attack, after a fifty-five mile dash, and they followed the fleeing Villa army for ten miles into the mountains until they dispersed into small bands.

According to General Pershing Villa is suffering from a severe wound in the leg and was not in the fight. His whereabouts is not known, but an active pursuit is being taken up.

Villa Wounded.

El Paso, March 31.—Colonel Davila wired General Gaviro, according to Consul Garcia, that confirmation had been received that Villa has been wounded in the leg in last fight with Carranza forces, and now is hiding in the north of Guerrero.

Colonel Davila's telegram to Gaviro said that he has received information through the chief of staff of the American expeditionary force at Tres Amigos camp, under instructions from General Pershing.

The announcement read:

Earlier General Pershing informed me that the 7th cavalry on March 30 had captured a detachment of Villa's forces composed of 500 men under Eliseo Hernandez. Villista lost Hernandez and thirty men. American forces have several wounded. Confirmation received that Villa was wounded at the last fight with constitutionalists and is hiding in the neighborhood of Guerrero.

FATHERS SHOWS UP FALSE STATEMENTS GIVEN CIRCULATION

Cites Records to Show That No Settlement Has Been Made With Gould Company—No Ward Funds Transferred.

Mayor James A. Fathers in the following signed communication brands certain statements with reference to the city administration as false and cites the city and county records which will prove the facts:

March 31, 1916.

Editor of Gazette,
Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir:

Two reports have become so persistent and seem to have been so widely circulated, that I deem it incumbent upon me to state the facts concerning them. First, it is widely circulated that the city has paid the Gould Construction Co. on their claim arising out of the construction of the Milwaukee street bridge. This is absolutely false. The case is on the present calendar in the circuit court, and is awaiting trial. No settlement has been made nor considered. This matter could only have been determined by referring to the Court files, or the records in the office of the city treasurer. It has also been persistently reported that $7,000 of the third ward highway fund has been spent in the third ward.

On November 1, 1915, when we adopted the general highway fund was $7,584.55 in this first ward fund and today March 31, 1916, there is in this fund $7,422.98. The money has not been spent in the third ward or in any other ward other than the first. We have plans for first ward work that will have been determined by referring to the Court files, or the records in the office of the city treasurer. It has also been persistently reported that $7,000 of the third ward highway fund has been spent in the third ward.

This first ward fund will be employed in the completion of the Pleasant street sewer, which drains the Pine street water. This piece of work will require about $4,000 and is absolutely guaranteed for the present season. It will also be spent in the construction of the Magnolia avenue sewer, which drains the River street sewer. The River street sewer, from West Bluff street to Walker street,
The Magnolia avenue project will cost about $2,000, while the River street sewer will cost about $400, so it is spent only for the matters for which it was appropriated. The material for the River street work is now on the job.

In addition to this there is other first ward work planned, which will call for an appropriation of much more than this ward fund. It might also be well to add that North Jackson street was not repaired out of the general highway fund, as reported, but was paid for from the first ward fund and was paid at the expense of the property-owners. Not one cent has been paid to the Gould Construction company on their claims, nor on the Suten patent claims, and not one cent from the first ward fund has been spent in the third ward, or any other ward unless it might be that a few dollars have been spent in the fifth ward. It would in any event be but a small sum and the records would show just how much if they were investigated. There is no excuse or justification for the circulation of such reports, where the truth is so open book to all. No one will suffer in any way by the change in the method of our handling our highway funds, rather will equal justice be more nearly approximated. City work will be done on a city basis as it should be, and in this connection it might also be well to say that in the opinion of the city attorney, we must collect a general highway fund, and that ward funds which break the uniformity of the tax rate are illegal.

In conclusion I will say that we are always glad to discuss city affairs with any citizen and we are always willing to show the absolute records to anyone who desires to see them.

Yours truly,
JAS. A. FATHERS,
Mayor.

Thursday's Markets.
Chicago, March 31.—Closing hog trade yesterday was in panic condition with 17,000 left in the pens, being the largest layover in over five years.
Selling values declined to 20@25c, compared with Wednesday's range, the average at $9.39 being lowest since March 7 and 50 cents below last Tuesday.

Larger receipts, smaller shipments and a dull trade in cash pork products at lower prices were among the weakening influences. Packers were unusually bearish and expect a further decline in hog values, talking $8.50 droves for April.

Average price of hogs at Chicago was $9.39, against $9.66 Wednesday, $9.83 Tuesday, $9.72 a week ago, $6.81 a year ago and $5.71 two years ago.

LEARN HOW TO SWIM

In a Series of Ten Articles Famous Expert Louis De B. Handley of the N. Y. A. C.
Gives Advice to Beginners and Veterans.

Article No. 1.—The Elementary Crawl

By LOUIS DE B. HANDLEY.

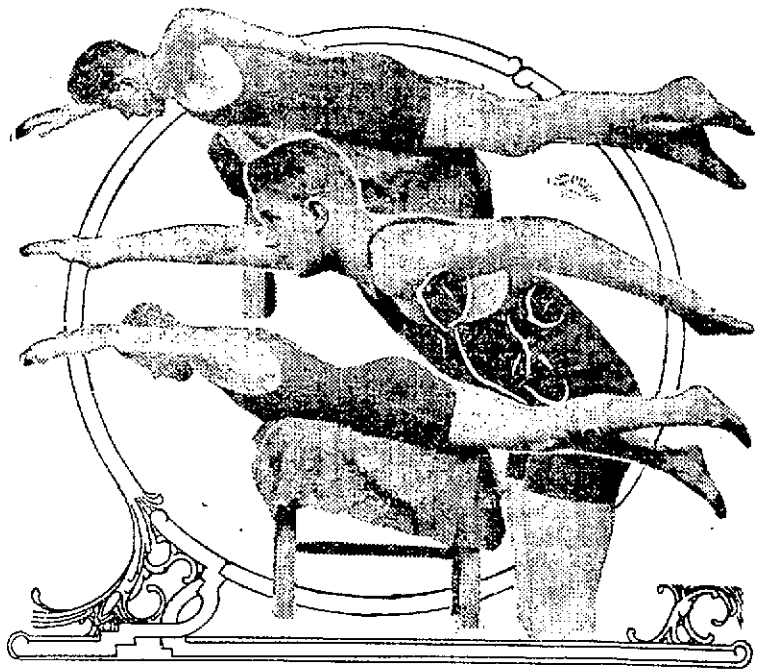

(Copyright, 1915, by American Press Association.)

ALTHOUGH a good many swimming instructors still cling to the old fashioned breast stroke as the means for teaching beginners, it has been demonstrated beyond question that both the side stroke and the elementary crawl are more practical. Not only do they enable the novice to acquire the rudiments of watermanship quicker and with less schooling, but they also avoid later that tedious and irritating undoing of the work accomplished which must be incurred when changing from the breast stroke to the modern types.

The novice, so you may without further delay strap on a pair of water wings or some such floating device and enter the water.

Choose either the shallow end of a pool or an outdoor spot where the depth will allow you to drop the feet and touch bottom at any time. Lower yourself gently to swimming position, bend up and feet about twelve inches below the surface; then start practicing the arm stroke just tried, remembering to roll rather heavily from side to side, to keep the muscles relaxed and to make the movements slow and deliberate. Haste only retards progress in swimming.

With the floating device buoying you up and no negative movements to check your advance—for the legs are left to trail, limp and unused, while the arms recover clear of the water—you should be able at the very first attempt to propel yourself without trouble. But do not be carried away by

THE CRAWL STROKE.

Upper illustration shows swimmer while right arm is driving and left arm is being brought forward above water in recovery. Elbow raised, muscles relaxed. Feet are performing alternate up and down continuous thrash.

Center illustration, the elementary crawl. How to practice the arm movements on land: Bend forward from the waist and rotate the arms alternately. Each starts from alongside, is carried back and up over the head, then swept down and forward to starting position, but action should be continuous and turning equidistant. As one arm is extended fully above the head the other should be grazing the hip.

Lower illustration—Left arm is ready to drive, comfortably extended, with hand six or seven inches below the surface. Right arm is about to leave the water at the end of its pull. Body forms a straight line from the head down. Feet are whipping up and down alternately in narrow, continuous thrash.

a matter of record that the method has produced racing swimmers of championship caliber in half the time formerly needed.

The claim is made that some people, and particularly those beyond early youth, cannot or will not take up the modern strokes. The point is conceded, although the number is negligible. But why not use the underwater side stroke with such pupils, as do progressive instructors? It is easier to learn, just as comfortable to swim and decidedly more valuable in every way.

That any pleasure bather should knowingly prefer the breast to the side stroke is hardly conceivable. The underwater side stroke can be swum with head raised and arms always submerged, yet it requires far less effort and yields greater speed.

As to the efficiency of the breast stroke in life saving, it need only be mentioned that the modern types allow one to reach the person in danger a good deal quicker and that the safest and best way of carrying the rescued ashore is to seize them from behind and swim on the back.

Having thus disposed of the once classic stroke, we may take up the subject of teaching the principles of notation through the elementary crawl, which can be strongly recommended for the great majority of beginners.

The method is simplicity itself and has the advantage of being available to those who are not in position to secure the guidance of a coach. While it is advisable, when possible, to learn to swim under a competent mentor, for it is difficult for the novice to tell whether he is following correctly the given rules, there is nothing to prevent any one from gaining moderate proficiency through self instruction by means of the elementary crawl. Here is how to go about it:

Stand first on land, bent forward from the waist so that the upper body is almost horizontal, approximately on the swimming plane. Then proceed to rotate the arms alternately and continuously. Each starts from alongside and moves back and up, passing over the head and driving forward and down, then grazing the hip and repeating the same circuit. The action of the arms should be so timed, relatively, that when one is raised to its highest above the head the other is brushing the body, fully lowered.

After a few minutes of this exercise will give a clear idea of the only movements to be performed at this stage of too much ambition. Take only a few strokes at a time, then pause for a brief rest and gradually increase the number.

Take note at this period of which arm you are inclined to use first, whether the right or the left, for it generally indicates on what side you will swim easiest, and try on and off so to adjust your breathing that you inhale when this arm is driving and exhale when it is recovering—i. e., moving forward from hip to above head.

As soon as you find yourself able to travel along comfortably for ten or fifteen yards it is advisable to take a short trip into deep water, for this will convince you that it is just as easy to swim there as where you have footing.

This point gained, return within your depth, discard all support and try to swim a few strokes unaided through your own efforts. Most beginners succeed then and there, but do not be discouraged if you prove the exception. Some individuals lack natural buoyancy and need longer schooling.

At all events, after a few attempts at swimming unsupported, whether successful or not, resume the water wings and start studying the leg action.

It need be explained here that, although the legs have not so far been knowingly used, they have not been totally idle. The muscular system of man is so inseparably correlated that if the legs are held without tension while swimming the elementary crawl they will follow instinctively the heavy alternate swing of the arms, each beating gently downward as the opposite arm drives, thus laying the foundation for a correctly timed trudgeon or crawl kick.

In bringing the legs into play voluntarily, therefore, it is only necessary to emphasize the movements unwittingly developed, having care, however, not to bring up the thighs, but merely to thrash the feet up and down alternately, bending the knees a little and keeping the feet under water, the heels at most appearing over the surface.

Once the arms and legs are working in harmony the floating device may be abandoned altogether, and the next step is to improve the acquired movements, learn how to breathe and then graduate to one of the modern advanced strokes. Of these things, however, we will speak in future articles.

potatoes and fresh vegetables. Throughout the country the military authorities are warned that they must refrain from doing the least damage to crops, no matter how small the area. Every available plot of ground must be used for increasing the supply of food and fodder.

A word to the wise—to those who advertise. Use want ads every day; our word for it, they'll surely pay.

NEW SHRAPNEL HELMETS CALLED "SOUP PLATES" BY THE ENGLISH SOLDIERS

London, March 31.—"Soup plates" is what the British soldiers at the front call the helmets with which they are now equipped as a protection against shrapnel. They are of steel and painted gray. In appearance they resemble an inverted bowl and are far from ornamental. They afford protection to the neck and ears as well as the head.

A British correspondent testifies to their efficacy in reducing casualties as proven in the recent stiff fighting for the recovery of the "International trench" north of the Ypres-Comines canal.

"I saw eight dented or pierced helmets today," he writes, "the wearers of which suffered no worse injury than slight scalp wounds, and some escaped entirely. All would have been killed had they worn an ordinary khaki cap. One helmet had been dented eight times by falling shrapnel, while a jagged two-inch hole marked the entry of a shell fragment which caused a flesh wound."

"Another bore a deep fissure made by the butt of a German rifle during the hand-to-hand fighting in the captured trench. The wearer of the helmet was not even stunned and he was able to kill his antagonist. Still another had been dented by shrapnel unknown to the wearer. Several had been cut through by pieces of shell, but the net effect was no greater than a smart blow across the skull with a club."

Why He Returned.

"Back home again, eh, doctor? What was the trouble? Too healthy for you out there?"

"Exactly. There was only one case of sickness in town the whole time I was there."

"And I suppose some other doctor had that?"

"No, I had it. It was homesickness."

—Boston Transcript.

King Victor Emmanuel.

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is his soldiers' idol. All who return from the front on furlough or sick leave speak of him with the greatest enthusiasm. Many have tears in their eyes when they tell of the way their king goes around and sees after everybody's comfort, even to that of the humblest soldier.

DISORDERS IN GERMANY ON FAVORITISM EXHIBITED IN FOOD DISTRIBUTION

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Rotterdam, March 31.—Favoritism in the distribution of foodstuffs is declared on German authority to have had more to do with recent disorders in the Fatherland than any actual shortage. The accusation is not made alone by radical publications like Vorwärts. The Kreuzzeitung, of the military press, discussing the situation at Dresden, relates the following:

"It appears that the market authorities in that town have for months past been doing a thriving trade in cornering vegetables and cereals which were intended by the municipality to be distributed at a nominal charge among the poor. Before long, proof was forthcoming that the names of customs and town hall officials, wholesale business firms and first-class boarding houses, were carefully noted in the market authorities' books. These favored customers were supplied secretly with all the articles they needed at prices only slightly in excess of those fixed as payable by the poor."

The consequence was that on scores of occasions hundreds of poor women, after standing for hours in front of the market stalls, pushing and trampling one another and tearing one another's clothes off their backs, in their struggles to obtain the desired food, were sent away either empty-handed or given a paltry half pound of peas or beans, while well-paid officials or rich merchants were supplied with 20 pounds at a time, delivered free at their houses."

SIX MILLION BUSHELS OF WHEAT IS ROTTING FOR THE LACK OF CARS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Winnipeg, Man., March 31.—Pleading that 6,000,000 bushels of wheat needs care to move it immediately to save it from rotting on the ground, a farmer's delegation appeared today before the Canadian Grain commission. Much of this grain is already being damaged by wet spring weather, the farmers told this commission.

WEATHER FORECAST.

PLAIN COLD FACTS.

The management of the business affairs of a city is similar to the handling of the affairs of a big corporation. While in the business world the directors, chosen by the stockholders, select the heads of their administrative departments, in the civic corporation the stockholders—that is the voters themselves—elect the heads of the departments at regular elections according to law.

The same care should be taken by the members of the civic corporation to select men qualified for the position they seek as is taken by the directors of a business corporation in their selection. The city of Janesville is one "big business." It needs men at the head of the government who are qualified for the management of this "big business." The salary paid for their actual work. The different departments are now handled by the Mayor and his two co-workers, with the assistance of clerks and paid assistants.

Should a change be made in the present personnel of the commission it would mean a readjustment of the divisions of activity of the council. If Mr. Cummings was defeated, it would mean a doubt as to the man to take up the work where he has dropped it, in addition to the salary of the new commissioner. An increase in expense of running the city, an increase in the taxes, if you please.

Every voter is a member of the big corporation and every voter has a perfect right to exercise his franchise to vote for whomsoever he sees fit for the responsible position, but the voter should stop and consider how it will affect his own pocketbook, his own personal interests before casting a ballot on election day.

It is not a question of religion, nationality or personality that should be considered but simply a vote for a bigger and better Janesville; a city whose business is handled in a business-like manner by business men having the best interests of the voters at heart. The success of the present commission is beyond a question. Taxes are lower, the water rates will be reduced, the streets are being placed in far better condition than ever before and there is harmony in administrative affairs.

The infusion of questions not pertinent to the issue have been injected into the campaign. Commissioner Goodman's personality and his record have been attacked without reason or cause. He is not an issue in this campaign and his excellent work stands for itself without comment, meeting the approval of citizens generally. It is merely an attempt to make the real issue, that of the qualifications of the candidate seeking election to an office now held by a man well qualified for the position.

Roy M. Cummings is a young man and he has made good as city clerk and also as member of the city commission. During the past year he has handled the business of the water company most successfully and to vote against him would deprive the city of a capable and efficient workman with the possible result that his opponent is named it will mean the employment of a high priced expert to do the work that he is now doing.

As has been repeatedly stated it is not a question of religion, nationality, of Goodman's well known efficiency or not, but simply whether Roy M. Cummings or his opponent is the man best fitted for the office of commissioner of the city of Janesville.

PEACE RUMORS.

If the markets of the world remain the barometer for coming events, peace rumors apparently have little significance. There is nothing to give them substance in the stock markets. The movements of exchange and the demand for money on call and for time loans, can all be explained without reference to an early peace. Where the belief is a settlement in the near future prevails the wish seems obviously father to the thought.

And yet there is a significant feature which market experts have perhaps not sufficiently appreciated. It is that all the peace talk comes from one quarter. However much Lord Northcliffe may differ with the British administration, they are at one on the question of the continuance of war to the only end which can secure lasting peace, and there are not enough peace-at-any-price people in Great Britain to modify the virtual unanimity of this attitude.

If this is true of Great Britain, it is equally true of France or Italy, where public opinion has full play, and where, in the latter country at least, it forced war upon so-called statesmen who were willing to parley with Germany. Turkey may be talking of peace, if there is any articulate public opinion there. But the remnant of Belgium is fighting yet, unconquered and, in everything that makes the soul of a nation, unconquerable.

There is no reason why Russia, with the ball at her feet in Asia Minor, should think of peace on anything short of the complete satisfaction of all the allies. But every German newspaper is talking of peace and hoping to arrive at it in some more or less roundabout way. These newspapers publish what they are told to publish, and nothing else, except at their imminent peril. They are belaboring the French with praise, falling, with their usual obtuseness, to see that their praise is an insult.

Even the drive at Verdun, the most significant feature of which has been the cool indifference of the allies, looks like a bid for peace. The price it has cost, and its secondary military consequences, point to a desperate political necessity. Sowing the seeds indiscriminately with mines, like bombarding defenseless towns in air raids, frightful as it may seem to the German mind, is an abject confession of weakness, all the more significant because of its childish unconsciousness.

Whatever the markets may say, there is at least a strong presumption that Germany sees the end of her hope, perhaps realizing that her Turkish ally has reached it.

GIVING TO TRAMPS.

What shall be done with the vagrant who comes to your back door asking for food? This is a question that bothers many kindly people. It is much easier to give than to withhold from the needy and pathetic creature who asks so little compared with your abundance.

Yet the assistance is commonly unprofitable. Many a man, who has been pretty closely, having maintained a "bread line" for many years. The other day an employment agency man offered work to two hundred of these beggars. In only five cases was it accepted, in even a halfhearted way. Many of these men also patronized other bread lines, on which they depended for a living. The army on this showing decided to give up this form of charity.

The easier it is to get food at back door handouts, the more pleasant and profitable the life of the tramp becomes. It acquires the character of a regular business, and is organized and systematized. Places where good feeds can be had become widely known through the mysterious telegraphy of the underworld.

Yet it seems as if there should be some human contact with these pathetic wayfarers. Looking them up in a jail and kicking them out of town next day does no good. They are used to it and regard it as all in the day's work.

Some people combining generosity with intelligence make it a practice of stop and talk with all who ask alms. They are ready to help if the story seems hopeful, but the man with the strong breath gets no assistance. In the hearts of many vagrants there must be some desire for a more settled life. Sometimes the sense of shame can be roused. The mere gift of food or money without inquiry does more harm than the good. But if a man really seems to have some good motives and a disposition to work, a little friendly advice, while he boils down his sandwich may set him to thinking about the utility of his life.

EFFICIENT GOVERNMENT.

An Institute for Efficient Government has just been incorporated at Washington. The purpose is to co-operate with public officers in promoting business methods.

There are many officials who will welcome such aid, but the politicians will regard it askance. Some expert might come around and suggest that a member of the opposite party be employed. That would never do, with so many deserving workers in your own fold still out in the cold. It seems strange that a people so capable of high achievement as the Americans, should tolerate such wasteful methods. We grow the biggest crops and build the best railroads, but we can't clean a street or build a postoffice economically.

There is a growing class of voters who believe that the government might be run more efficiently. One must learn that the fellow who belongs to the other party, some other church or lodge or race strain, may be the very best man for the job. But before one gets this business point of view, many prejudices have to be dropped.

Predictions are already made that certain congressmen can't be re-elected, in spite of the fact that they have faithfully performed the duties of distributing garden seeds, recommending party workers to clerkships, receiving delegations of school children, and collecting public documents for the high school debating societies.

After deploring the lack of patriotic feeling in this country, our statesmen proceed to encourage that feeling by voting the private soldier the munificent salary of $15 a month.

It is predicted that the "barrel skirt" will be prominent Easter Sunday. It does not seem as if it would be a convenient thing to wear into a narrow church pew.

The people who have always thrown away lighted matches in the woods are the same ones who are complaining this spring because lumber for building costs so high.

The stock brokers are putting the market high so that they can sell out, and then proceed to put the market down, so as to buy in low again.

It is believed that the coal operators will generously grant the demands of the employees, and stick the consumer only twice what they have to pay.

The newspapers are printing the pictures of the college girls who carry the daisy chain, but none have been seen of those who capture the high scholarship honors.

It is not safe for the tramps who spend the winter in southern climates.

"I Tell You Stuart's Calcium Wafers Are Wonderfully Beauty Makers!"

Impurities known to science. Everybody knows or ought to know that impurities in the blood cause most of the poor complexion, the pimples, the red spots, the muddy skins, the boils and skin eruptions. Once the blood is purified, all these beauty destroyers disappear, and a complexion results which no face treatment can ever produce.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers are wonderful for this purpose. One of their ingredients, calcium sulphide, is in itself the quickest and most effective blood cleanser ever known. Start taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers to day and your mirror in a few days will show you that your "dream of a fair and beautiful face" is coming true. Buy a box of them from your druggist today, 50 cents. If you want to try them first, mail coupon below for free trial package.

FORT ATKINSON

Fort Atkinson, March 30.—The eight months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rasmussen, residing in the town of Oakland, about seven miles northwest of this city, was burned to death Wednesday morning. The mother left the baby playing on a quilt on the floor while she went out to work in the milk house. The older children in their play lit some papers, which set the quilt and the clothes of the baby on fire. The baby was dead when found by the mother, its little arms burned so they were stiff.

Political Announcement.

Written and publication authorized by Roy M. Cummings and to be paid for by him at the rate of 30c per inch.

I don't believe it is profitable to go over, in detail, the facts given to the voters in my primary campaign. Nobody has denied those facts and no one has suggested that my statement was unfair or overdrawn. I believe, however, that I may properly call attention to some of these facts, in a brief way, because they make up the platform or policies upon which I am asking for votes. I ask for your votes not upon what may be done, but upon what has been done. You are well acquainted with the policies of the present city government. If you approve those policies I may expect your vote.

ROY M. CUMMINGS.

I. We have given Janesville better highways than it ever had, and they have been better kept up.

II. Janesville is one of the most orderly and best regulated cities in Wisconsin.

III. We secured for the city its Water Works and have operated it successfully for one year.

IV. We have ordered a reduction in consumers' rates, based upon experience and careful study.

V. We built a splendid concrete bridge, in the face of strong opposition, and have maintained it as public, not private property.

VI. In four years no one can point to a dollar of public funds that has been wasted, and no one even suggests that there has been any graft.

VII. We have reorganized the police department, added motor equipment to both police and fire departments and increased the efficiency of both.

VIII. We have ordered the telegraph, telephone and electric light poles out of the business streets, and have refused to permit any further building on the bridge. If elected I shall vote to MAINTAIN THE BRIDGE AS PUBLIC PROPERTY. Where does my opponent stand on these issues?

IX. We have increased the efficiency of the schools, and given the city its night schools.

X. We have reorganized the city lighting, and by May 1 we will have the most modern lighting system, in the state, including an ornamental street lighting system, AND ALL AT LESS MONEY THAN THE OLD.

In this campaign I am standing upon a record, which is open to all. I am not asking support on promises only. I stand upon the record of the present council, because I helped to make it. I invite public criticism of that record. What part of that record will my opponent change? What policy does he object to?

I believe that qualification for this office is going to be made the test by the voters, and I respectfully invite their consideration of the question on that basis. I solicit your support at the election April 4th.

ROY M. CUMMINGS.

THE GIRL AND THE GAME ...

Copyright 1915 by Frank H. Spearman.

The crowd worked in and the sheriff, despite Spike's protests, laid his hand on Spike's shoulder and told him that he was under arrest, turning him over to a deputy as he did so, with orders to search him. In a moment they found on Spike the revolver he had taken from Bill at the courthouse. The sheriff opened the gun. It contained five loaded shells; the sixth had been discharged.

The crowd, angry at Spike, surged forward, the sheriff holding them back as best he could while he directed his deputy to take the prisoner away.

Helen and Storm, finishing their lunch, had gone to the courthouse and were busy with the recorder who was trying to find the missing book, when a clerk coming in told about the fight down street, and of a prisoner, named Spike, the crowd was trying to take from the sheriff.

Storm and Helen, not waiting to pursue their search, left the room to ascertain what the disturbance was about.

By this time the sheriff and his deputies had succeeded in getting Spike to the calaboose where they pushed him inside. But the crowd, now a mob, had followed hard on their heels. It was growing larger every moment and the feeling was running higher. In fact, Storm and Helen had hardly reached the street when they were told there was a good prospect of the city jail being raided and Spike being dragged out and hanged to the first pole.

Sengrove had sent Lug out to look for Bill, whose disappearance disturbed him. And Lug, finding his partner lying deserted on the sidewalk, tried hard to bring him around. He stopped a man running past and with his help propped Bill up.

Helen and Storm, reaching the edge of the crowd in front of the jail, saw and heard enough to make them realize the seriousness of the situation. They looked at each other.

"What do you think?" asked Helen of her companion anxiously.

Storm shook his head. "We've got to get help, Helen, and get it quick."

"The only place it can come from is the camp, then," responded Helen with decision. "And we must go after it, George."

They hastened to the station and told the story to the agent. Storm wrote a message, directing a boy to rush upstairs with it and get it off.

When Rhineland opened the telegram a few moments later, he read:

SPIKE WORKING IN OUR BEHALF IN TROUBLE WITH SEAGRAVE'S GANG. THEY ARE STORMING JAIL TO LYNCH HIM. ON ENGINE. HAVE HELP READY AS SOON AS WE ARRIVE—STORM.

Rhineland, without loss of time, assembled his men, told them of the trouble at Las Vegas and asked if they were willing to help rescue Spike. They answered with an affirmative yell and he ordered them to climb aboard a flat car.

In front of the jail a man was haranguing the crowd and urging them to get the murderer. And his listeners were already in a humor to rush the place. Within the sheriff and his men were anxiously watching developments.

The sheriff ordered a deputy to slip quietly out the back way and get hold of a car. The moment the machine appeared the sheriff smuggled Spike out, meaning to take him to the county jail for safe keeping. Unfortunately, an alert rioter saw the move. He gave the alarm.

Before Spike's captors could get him away the crowd headed the machine off. It was then a case of any port in a storm and the officer with his little party took refuge in the city council chambers, handcuffing Spike to the floor in order to have everyone free to hold the rioters at bay.

Helen and Storm had boarded a switch engine in the yards and run it down to camp where the flat car filled with men was coupled to it and with Rhineland in charge, headed again for Las Vegas.

The sheriff in the council chamber found himself surrounded. He went to the door and addressed the mob. He told them he would defend the prisoner with his life. The officer went inside, fastening the door behind him, and his men made a barricade of desks to protect themselves from occasional bullets that now whistled through the big windows opening on Main street. But though the men made themselves safe for the time being, a stray shot struck the wires leading from the telephone and in contact with a scratch pad. Unobserved by anyone in the excitement of the moment the paper caught by the short circuit began to smoke. In a moment it blazed up; little tongues of fire began to lick the wall beside which the pad lay. At this juncture Rhineland, with his men eager for a fray pulled into the station.

Scrambling from the flat car they hastened, led by Rhineland, up Main street. The sheriff perceiving timely aid in sight, bunched his men and charged out into the street. Taken front and rear, the mob scattered and the sheriff dividing the new arrivals into parties under his deputies, pursued the rioters as they dispersed. Desultory shooting went on for a few minutes. Rhineland with Helen and Storm, had joined the sheriff and explanations had just begun when Helen, looking down street, called the attention of her companions to smoke issuing from the front windows of the city hall.

A Woman's World.

My sweetheart, dear, has eyes of gray, Her hair has golden tints; At least, it had 'em yesterday, I haven't seen her since.

"You great contemptible bully!" roared Judge Frankfort. "How dared you lay your hand to that frail little woman just because she ran off with the iceman for a few days? I sentence you to nineteen months of hard labor."

And as they led the wifebeater back to his cell, little Allen Dishwasher, taking it all in from the last row of spectators' benches, thought, excitedly, "At last I see a way out!"

And rushing home, he went into the parlor and sat down tremblingly on one of the gilt chairs. Five minutes later his great strapping wife, on her way out to a movie show, discovered him there.

"What did I tell you about those chairs?" she screamed, and seized a roll of matting and beat him for ten minutes.

Rubbing himself with arnica, Allen Dishwasher ran and swore out a warrant, and the next day Judge Frankfort was listening to the whole story.

"You sniveling little weakling!" he shouted. "Don't you know that a man who can't manage his own wife is beneath contempt? I sentence you to two months on the stonepile!"

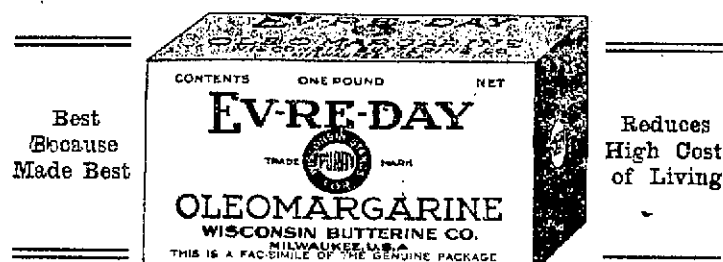

And they led him off, while Mrs. Dishwasher looked at her wristwatch and discovered she had just time to see Dusty Kerrigan in "The Bishop's Revenge," before dinner.

When Maggie sings. No ordinary voice is hers. Because it really stirs the souls of those who listen and her kind of music understand. There's not another of its kind. That anyone can call to mind. MORRIS MILLER

Ritchie Mitchell, the crack Milwaukee pitcher, has recovered from his illness and has been matched by Tom Andrews, the fight promoter, of Milwaukee, to meet Freddie Welsh in a ten-round bout at the big Auditorium in that city either on April 7 or 10. This bout will draw a big crowd, as the Milwaukee fans want to see Mitchell box Welsh.

Larry Doyle, the boss swatter of the National league last year, is awaiting the old pill in great shape at the Giants' training quarters, and it looks as though the smiling second baseman will have a great year in 1916. Larry will surely push Benny Kauf for the batting supremacy.

It is reported that down at the camp of the Yankees they are having trouble in finding a bed long enough for "Slim" Love, six feet seven inches. What we wonder is, how does this little fellow get into the sleeping car bunk? Or is he just sittin' round. This latter will come to light, perhaps, after "Slim" faces the Detroit 'cross next July.

Connie Mack has turned over one of his youngsters, John Danner, a shortstop, to Manager John Castle of the Quincy Three-I league team. Danner, who hails from Roxbury, Mass., played in several games for the Athletics last fall.

The Buffalo International league team will do its training at Winton, N. C., where the players report April 3 and remain three weeks, playing several exhibitions on their way north. Patsy Donovan will take only about twenty men to camp.

Catcher Harvey Russell, ex-Def, who was reported signed by the Chicago Cubs, but who was not, according to Manager Tinker, reverts to the Bridgeport club of the Eastern league, his Secretary, Rudy of that club is quoted as saying he is not wanted.

According to a St. Louis writer, Eddie Plank has tipped off Fielder Jones to the sign-putting system which was employed by the Mackmen in Plank's day with that team, and the Browns are to be cunning detectors of the system used by the Browns. There is a whole lot of bunk about the stories which have been written of how Connie Mack wins pennants by the use of such methods. It is a custom, perhaps, that team, as on a lot of others, for the runner on second base to make an effort to get the opposing catcher's signals to the pitcher and tip off the batter, but it is not a thing that is done by Plank or any other pitcher.

When Frank Moran posed for the movie men at Dal Hawkins' camp the other day it was found necessary to do Frank's eyebrows with a brush. The movie director gleamed a fingerful of smudge from the arc lights. Moran's eyebrows were transformed into the beetled brows of a western bad man in a jiffy. "Ah!" exclaimed Moran, "they are painting HIGHERBROWS on a plebeian. Beauty is only skin deep, after all," said the big blond as the director plastered away with an index fingerful of soot.

The more one sees of old Porky Flynn, the more one wants to see of him. The more one sees of him, the more interesting boxer among the heavies. One thing about Porky's workman-ship is this: He has the whole world of boxers cheated at rolling away from a punch. He acts like a sailor on shore leave when hard punches are coming this way. With a simple roll of his head, Porky upsets the other fellow's calculations, and while the blow may land, the force is nullified and Flynn is still aloft when the spectators expect to see him groveling in the resin. Flynn is the head-least big man in the ring today, with the possible exception of Dan Morgan's perpetual motion machine, Bee Levinsky.

"I'll wager a suit of clothes that Heinie Zimmerman won't be chased from the game as often this year as he has been during the past three or four years," ventured Joe Tinker, manager of the Cubs. "If you'll look over the records you'll find that when Heinie worked alone of Heinie's instances when he was put out of the game were rare. I don't intend working at short this year, except in cases of emergency, but just the same I'll bet that Heinie will be a different player. We understand each other, and Heinie knows that I need him in the game every day. When Heinie is working for some one who understands him and for some one who looks to him to carry a big bulk of the burden of battle, he'll be out there day after day working off his head."

William (Dutch) Harmuth, late of McAlester and Muskogee, objects to an intimation by a Muskogee correspondent that he has "permanently retired" from baseball. He is out of the game as an active player because of an injury received last year at Muskogee, but says he still hopes to keep in baseball as an umpire, provided he lands a berth that suits.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

BY DAISY DEAN

A dramatic romance of the present day presenting a tale of Mexican intrigue and American progressiveness is "Heart of Paula," a picture starring Lenore Ulrich, which will be released early in April. In the title role of this play Miss Ulrich appears as a romantic Mexican girl and falls in love with an American youth, who disregards the dangers of the troublesome country in order to ascertain the value of a mine for a wealthy United States syndicate. A Mexican general who is enamored of Paula endeavors to upset the happiness of the lovers and almost gains his point when he succeeds in inciting the jealousy of the girl, with the result that she is responsible for his death sentence. At the last moment, realizing the error she has made, she compromises with the general in order to save her sweetheart and after he has safely crossed the border line she goes to the Mexican to give herself up. When the unscrupulous officer finds her, his hands are bound by bonds, but he is too late, for death has robbed him of his conquest.

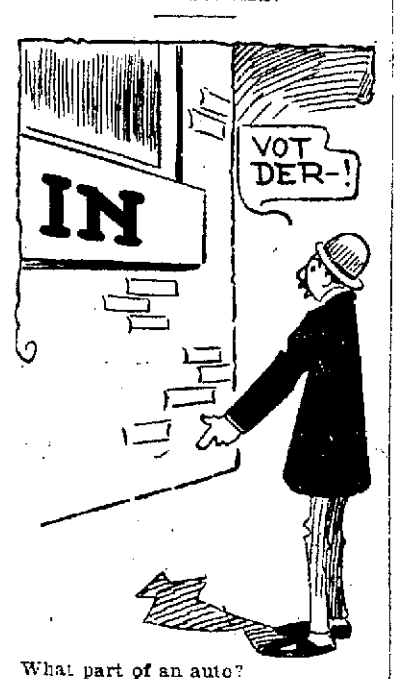

ANITA WILL ANSWER YOUR LOVE LETTERS. Anita Stewart receives between two and three hundred letters a day from all parts of the world.

Most of them are so soft and mushy," she says, "they would be suited to stuffing pillows with. But each one was written by an individual who thought enough about me to put a stamp on the envelope and drop it into the post-box. Common courtesy demands that each letter get its attention, even though I have to go to the expense of hiring a secretary to take care of them."

In the opinion of those who have their finger on the pulse of the motion picture public Anita has the right idea. No letter is too insignificant or trifling to be ignored by the player. A letter in return, or photograph, means a friend. One friend means several, and when the day comes that the exhibitor puts it up to his audience what films to book the actor or actress with the most friends will win.

"BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" GRIPPING WAR LESSON

(From Chicago Daily News.)
Pacifists who shout against increasing the army and navy for national defense receive a body blow in "The Battle Cry of Peace," the film spectacle which opened at the Olympic Theatre Sunday evening. In vivid pictures and through subtitles those who deem war preparedness are wronged to face with the disaster that might ensue should a powerful foreign nation invade our shores in our present military state.

No attempt has been made by J. Stuart Blackton, author of the play, to deal with his subject with kid gloves. Blunt, unvarnished and grim facts were set forth.

Shows Brutality of War. The author has deviated far from the beaten path in picture drama building. To drive home his message he shows war in all its brutality and gruesomeness, carrying his theme into two peaceful homes which suffer from the invasion of a foreign army. An observer will not find the happy ending prevalent in most picture productions. If he seeks the American soldiers to repel the invading forces at the end of the picture he is doomed to disappointment. The American soldiers do have their inning with the enemy, but suffer a disastrous defeat and bow to the enemy, accepting "peace at any price."

At the end of two and a half hours of startling episodes picturing realities and fantasies by double photography attended by an inspiring musical score and suitable "effects," spectators were heard to comment how woefully weak America is. Statistical diagrams of population and wealth compare this country with other nations of importance and show how ridiculously small is the army and navy Uncle Sam provides to safeguard his property.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" will be shown at the Apollo for two days only Tuesday and Wednesday.

WOMAN'S PAGE

Heart and Home PROBLEMS

—By—
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to
MRS. THOMPSON
In care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been divorced from my first husband eight years and I got married again. I thought I loved the second one, but I found out in a short time that I didn't. My first husband married a woman a good many years older than himself. I went to see him a year ago and asked him if he could get him. But every time he cured only for the mother of his child. He said that I should not worry because things would be all right some day. Our daughter is now a young lady and her father is still living with his second wife. He asked me to let him see my second husband and said he would do the same. I did so, but he has failed to love him better than anyone in the world and my life has been a wreck ever since we parted. I thought if I married the second time I would find about him and in the end I would think and grieve about the dream. I have tried everything to keep from thinking of him, but nothing has helped me. Can you tell me of any way to win his love back again?

WORRIED MOTHER.
You no longer have a right to your first husband's love. You gave that up when you left him. When we wreck our lives with the mistakes we make, the very best thing we can do is face things bravely and make the best of life as it is. Your first husband belongs to another woman now and so you can gain nothing by loving him and thinking about him. Give up the past entirely and live in the present. If you do not, the good things in life which are in store for you will slip by without your noticing them and you will only half live. Whether your life is to be a thing of happiness or misery is up to you.

Little woman.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I have been keeping company with a young man for two years and he seems to like me quite well. At least he pretends that he does not care for other girls. But he never brings me sweets or flowers and does not spend much money on me. He takes me to the movies, but I think him a stinky sort of fellow. What do you think of a fellow like that? Would you quit his company?

(2) I am rather tired of his being so economical. When I told him I thought we must break company he wanted to know the reason and I don't know what to tell him. He said if I did break company he would leave town never to see me again. He is one year younger than I am, but still I like him. What would you advise me to do?

(3) He does not want me to keep company with anyone else or go out with another fellow when I have a chance. Would you advise me to go with others or not?

(4) Is it the girl's place to mention when she wants to see a certain fellow?

BLONDIE.
(1) Very few boys can afford to spend much money on a girl. If the boy is doing the best he can for you, I don't think you ought to complain. Flowers and candy are given to girls in looks much oftener than they are in life.

(2) If you only care for the things the boy does for you and not the boy himself, probably you better give him up.

(3) If you are not engaged to the boy go with others too.

(4) No.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am seventeen years old and I have been with a fellow for over a year. I love him very much, but at times I act contrary. How can I get rid of this habit? I dislike it very much.

(2) Do you think a fellow should kiss a girl after they are engaged?

BLUE EYES.
(1) You will to a great extent outgrow your tendency to be contrary. A girl of your age doesn't know what she does want and that is what makes her contrary. Try not to be unreasonable and you will be all right.

(2) Yes.

but unlimited resources. He declares he can build and sell Rockefeller, for instance. His eyes look glassy, and he looks down all the time. He is inclined to say and do unbecomingly shocking things (though he has always been a clean-minded man), and is easily influenced by a despicable class of people who tell him they will do anything for him—people whose only desire is to get control of his business.

"His hobby is divorce—he talks continually of getting a divorce from his wife, the trustee woman in the world. He declares he will commit suicide rather than live with her, and he accuses her of the foulest and most inconceivable crimes. He is squandering his resources, disgracing his family and driving his wife to the grave. For God's sake, what can be done?"

A better description of paresis, or "softening of the brain," could scarcely be written. There is but one thing to do, in the man's own interest and in the interest of the family. His wife should apply to the judge of the county for a commission in lunacy to examine the man. Then he may be committed to a hospital and properly treated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Neuritis of Facial Nerve.
Please describe facial neuritis. I have had it in my system for three years, but have never had the facial part.

Answer—Inflammation of the nerve supplying one side of the face. It is characterized by weakness or paralysis of the muscles on one side of the face, coming suddenly as a rule, and the patient may be unaware of it until some one remarks about the "swelling" of one side of the face—really absence of the usual folds and wrinkles, which expression, with electricity and general treatment, recovery occurs after several weeks. If you haven't had the facial part, you are probably mixed on your terms.

Myxedema.
What is myxedema? What are the symptoms? Is it curable?
Answer—The result of absence or inadequacy of secretion of the thyroid gland. Symptoms are mental hebetude, physical lassitude, general lack of perspiration, dry, thick skin, puffy eyes, pads of fat on collar bones, slow pulse, subnormal temperature, sensitiveness to cold, drowsiness, thickened tongue, constipation, menstruation in women. It is curable by glandular therapy.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
Now when putting away the interior, put on to cook in cold water; they will not turn dark when cooked.
To Clean Out Stovepipe—A piece of zinc put on the live coils in the stove will clean out the stovepipe.

ODD BREADS AND BISCUITS.
Breakfast bread—A delicious bread called "Johnson's Spunks." Mix one cup butter, two teaspoons baking powder, one egg, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup milk, one cup flour, and a very little water to make a nice batter. Beat two minutes, then drop from spoon into smoking hot oil and fry until nicely browned.
Potato Rusks—At night take one cup mashed hot potatoes, one cup sugar added while potatoes are hot, one egg, compressed yeast dissolved in one cup water, beat six minutes, morning, then add three eggs, one cup butter (or butter and lard mixed), two quarts flour. Mix, let stand until light, then roll down and raise again, then turn onto board and roll to one-half inch. Cut with small cutter, place in pans, let rise, bake twenty minutes, turn out of pans and dust with fine sugar. These are fine for luncheon.

FISH DISHES.
Fish Flake a la Queen—Put one tablespoon butter in upper part of double boiler, melt, mix in one tablespoon flour, add one-half cup milk, add salt and pepper and stir constantly, cooking eight minutes over boiling water. Have in readiness the contents of a small tin of soup flakes. Add these to the sauce with a dash of chopped mushrooms and a tablespoon of parsley. Let stand over hot water until fish and mushrooms are thoroughly heated, then mix in well-beaten yolks of one egg and one tablespoon chopped parsley. Serve at once in paper cases or pastry shells.
Coddled Fish—Have ready one cup coddled flakes, two cups mashed potatoes, two eggs and half cup milk and pepper. Mix thoroughly using one of the eggs well beaten. Put mixture into a buttered casserole or other egg well beaten and dust with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a quick oven. When done serve on hot dish, or leave the pile in the casserole. Garnish with parsley and serve hot.
Stewed Halibut—Season hot butter, put it into stew pan with a little milk or cream, boil up once. Add one tablespoon butter, a little pepper and serve plain or on toasted crackers. Cook lobster just long enough to heat, as a longer cooking renders it tough.

Fried Shrimps—Drain a can of shrimps, wipe them dry with a clean towel, roll them in egg and cracker or fine bread crumbs and fry in deep oil for five minutes. When done place them on brown paper in the oven for a few minutes. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Serve on hot platter with lemon and parsley.
Creamed Halibut—Season hot mashed potatoes, pack into cup mold, set aside to cool. When ready to use, carefully turn potatoes out of each mold, dip into beaten egg and roll in fine dry bread crumbs. Fry in deep fat until a golden brown. Drain on brown paper and cut a circle at the top of each croquette, scooping out the center with a spoon. Make a rich cream sauce, allowing one tablespoon each of butter and flour to each half pint of milk, season with salt, pepper and lemon juice, add a pint of faked cooked halibut, keep hot in double boiler ten minutes. Fill potato shells with fish mixture and serve at once. Garnish with parsley.
Halibut Creams—Blend two tablespoons flour with two of butter, add gradually one cup hot milk or thin cream, cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Season to taste, beat in yolk of an egg and two cups cooked halibut flaked fine. Mix well and pour into buttered paper cases. Bake in slow oven and serve hot, garnished with minced hard-boiled eggs and parsley.

Shrimp Salad—From stale bread cut squares or rounds two inches thick, then hollow out the center, leaving a rim half an inch thick, and brown a little in melted butter. After removing bread from sauce pan, dip into chopped parsley and put away in a cool place. Drain a can of shrimps, wipe them with a clean towel, cut them in half, mix with an equal quantity of chopped celery (or part celery and peas) and dress with mayonnaise. Serve in the parsley nests with a spoonful of mayonnaise on top.

Read and use the want ads. They are sure winners.

A Crisp, Delicious "Snack" for luncheon or after-the-theater, or any old time when the appetite craves "something different," is TRISCUIT, the Shredded Whole Wheat toast. Heat it in the oven to restore its crispness, then serve with butter, soft cheese or marmalades. As a toast for chafing dish cookery it is a rare delight. It is full of real nutriment.

CUTE LITTLE CURLS BACK IN FASHION

Margaret Mason Has a Few Things to Say About the Frivolous Girls Now Very Stylish.

A tendril of Camilla's hair
Cared her neck in manner
I begged of her the shining strand
And stroked it with a tender hand
Then when perverse she said
I snipped that golden curl away
But when Camilla saw it there,
The lovely curl she used to wear
Her parting lips began to twitch
"There now," she sobbed,
"You've spoiled my switch."

By Margaret Mason.
New York, March 31.—Little, alluring, wholly feminine, fascinatingly frivolous curls are coming in again. To bob their wee fat sausage lengths in front of a pair of pink ears, to top in a bewildering cluster of tiny corkscrews the crown of a dainty young head, or to nestle in one smooth curl in that delectable hollow between a dimpled shoulder and a rounded throat.

Yes, they are coming in again, but it is safe to predict that the most of them will easily come out again. Curls such as these are easier pinned in that grown at the whimsies of the mode.

To be sure hair is still to be worn peeled and slicked back from the forehead, but the softening influence of an occasional stray curl or two is a concession to the frills and ruffles and hoops and bonnets of the present old-fashioned fashions.

Particularly are the bonnets responsible for the recurrence of curls and the Shepherdess poke or Watteau shape is mother to the Nitchie coiffure which consists simply in drawing the hair back smoothly from the face into a cluster of soft puffs at the crown of the head with a few clustering ringlets escaping at the nape of the neck.

Just to make it even more piquant a narrow black velvet ribbon is tied around the cluster of puffs on the head's pinnacles.

Another popular high head dress is a la 1830 has the hair waved and parted in front with three short curls over each ear and a soft faint puff for a top knot.

A low head dress with two fat sausage curls to bob over either ear has the safe of an old-fashioned smooth back into a tiny bun.

Flowers in the hair is to be another revived clinging vine fashion. And the roses of June will be born to flush forth an equally rosy ear for the rest of his life.

The hands that bind will still continue on the job and the brow in the form of a neat ribbon, or black velvet with a little love knot behind.

Truly this mad preference for love knots and love locks augurs a certain variety and richness for the hair, a promise of the near future.

To lighten the monotony of the eternal love letters with a love knot of rose ribbon or a tendril of burnished hair surely ought to influence all jaded hearts.

THREE HUNDRED WOMEN ARE DRIVING BERLIN MAIL WAGONS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Berlin, March 31.—Three hundred women are now driving horse-drawn mail wagons in Berlin, according to an announcement by the post office authorities.

It is this Mrs. Ellison? A middle-aged man stood on the porch, holding his hat in his toll-hardened hands. He looked with an expression of eager sympathy into Olive's face as he spoke.

"Yes; won't you come in?" Olive led the way to the living room.

"I read about your terrible trouble in the newspaper and I thought I might be of some help to you."

"Oh, if you could help me find my darling baby," breathed the stricken woman, clenching her hands in her lap.

"You see, I had a strange experience once day before yesterday. I was driving home from a friend's party and I overtook a woman walking and carrying a baby."

"How odd was the child?" interrupted Olive.

"It was a big baby, somewhere near a year old, I should say," the man replied with deliberation.

"My baby was thirteen months," Olive showed increasing excitement.

"It was a hot day," she pleaded, "up to her I stopped and asked her to ride. She climbed in and rode with me for three miles. She got out at Hudson's corner, saying she had to go down that road."

"What kind of a woman was she?" Olive leaned forward eagerly as she asked her question.

"She was slender, and dressed in dingy black. I tried to get her to talk, but she would hardly speak a word on any subject."

"Did you see the baby?" Olive was trembling and her eyes looked feverish and bright.

"The baby was asleep and she shielded its face from the sun so I did not see it. She seemed very careful of it; hardly took her eyes off it, in fact. The man put his hands on his knees as if about to rise.

"You say you could not get the woman to talk?"

"Hardly a word would she say. I got out of her that she did not live in these parts. You see, I have lived in the neighborhood all my life and I know most of the farmers and how she came to be walking and carrying a heavy child on a hot day like that."

"What time of day was it?" asked Olive, drawing her chair closer to the side of her caller in her eagerness not to lose a word.

"It must have been between one and two o'clock. I was late getting home that day. I believe the paper said you missed your baby at noon," he continued.

"We sat down to dinner and when we had finished eating the doctor went out to see her and she was gone. We found the baby in the high grass by the side of the road just before the creek. I went out and saved her. Where did you pick her up?"

"About a mile west of there. I told my wife when I read of your loss that I more than half believed I had found some one to run off with your child."

"I was very kind of you to come and let us know. It may help us trace her. We are grateful for any clear help you find her."

"I am sorry I cannot tell you more. This may not prove to be of any value in helping you find your baby, but I thought the circumstances were peculiar enough to warrant me in coming and telling me about them."

The man rose to go.

"I am expecting my husband any minute now. He would like to see you, I am sure. Where can we find him?" asked Olive, extending her hand.

"Man name is Farrer, John Farrer. You can get me over the phone. Rural 63 W-4." Olive accompanied him to the door.

SIDE TALKS —By— RUTH CAMERON

THIEVES AND THIEVES.

"See that man? He is a thief!" someone said to me the other day. I saw a rather good-looking, decidedly well-dressed young man, talking to a group of men of his own type.

"He's not at all my conception of the part," I said. "Do you mean that man has actually been in prison?"

"Oh, no!" said my companion.

"The man formerly lived in our town, but he has moved. He had to. He had exhausted his credit and could get no more. He left town owing the doctor three hundred dollars, the provision man four hundred, and the grocer six thousand dollars. They didn't hesitate to call the doctor in the night."

The doctor had carried his two children through several infantile illnesses. The social vampires were not sparing of their calls upon him (why should they be, when they did not intend it should cost them anything?). He had him come every day even several times a day in the middle of the night. When the doctor presented his bill they paid no attention to it, and when, being in need of money, he came to the vampire's office and demanded that he pay something, the vampire lit a cigarette, laughed in the doctor's face and said: "See me if you want to; you won't get anything out of it, for I haven't anything."

The biggest bills I have mentioned first because they are the most striking, but I doubt if they meant any more tragedy to the creditors than a bill of eighty-seven dollars which the vampire paid in the fruit peddler.

Eighty-seven dollars isn't such a big sum, but as it happens, the loss means a small tragedy to him and his family.

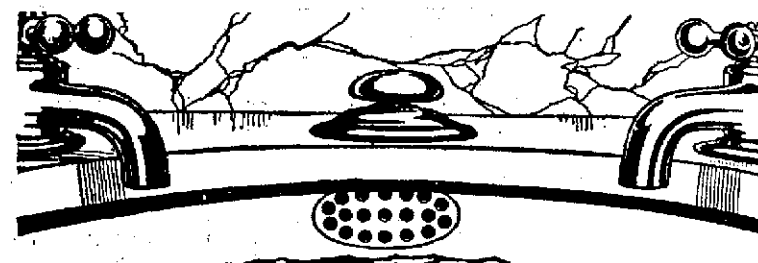

They have moved on to Do it Again.

Now the vampires have gone to another city where their record is not

The man who steals a few dollars goes to jail and is branded as a thief for the rest of his life.

And this man lives on the fat of the land, dwells in an attractive house and mingles with "good society."

Society Suffers. Let Society Punish Them.

I don't know enough about law to know whether there are laws that could be enforced against him or whether a law could be formed that would punish him without punishing men who are unfortunate rather than blameworthy, but this I know. Society itself could punish him if it would. Social ostracism is the sort of thing these vampires would mind most. Why not get together and ostracize them?

Perhaps if people realized more clearly that it is they themselves who pay the debt of the bill they might be less complacent. To be sure the doctor or the tradesman is the primary sufferer, but he has to make up for his losses in higher charges. And the ultimate consumer pays—as usual.

For the man who is unwillingly pushed into debt by an unfairly small wage, by illness, by misfortunes of one sort or another, I have the deepest sympathy. But for the social vampire I have a hatred which it is hard indeed to confine to the sin instead of to the sinner.

Send for The Cook's Book By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill

It's FREE

Our instructions to the famous editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine were: "Get up a book of recipes of the things people like best. Find the best way to make and bake each one. Then write it out so plainly that even an inexperienced housewife can't have a failure."

"The Cook's Book" was the result. Some of the 90 recipes were originated, many of them were improved upon, and all were personally tested by this best known authority on cooking in America, and she tells so clearly how she made everything that one cannot go astray.

While some of the cakes and pastry are elaborate enough for any occasion, the recipes are all thoroughly practical and call for no expensive and unusual ingredients. In addition to telling how to make them, the book is beautifully illustrated in colors showing how to arrange and serve the dishes appetizingly.

More than half a million of "The Cook's Book" are now in use in American households. Yet the demand is constantly increasing. Many send for two or three at a time to give to friends or young housekeepers. Don't depend on borrowing one from a neighbor—have one of your own.

How to Get "The Cook's Book"

In every 25c can of K C Baking Powder is packed a colored certificate. Send us one of these certificates (paste it on a postal card if you like) with your name, and address plainly written, and "The Cook's Book" will be mailed free of charge. Only one book for each certificate.

His Own

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Assistant Superintendent of Men, Moody
Bible Institute of Chicago

TENT—Having loved his own which were in the world he loved them unto the end—John 13:1.

With peculiar emphasis this text describes all Christians as "his own."

Believers are the peculiar property of the Lord Jesus Christ in at least three ways. They become his by gift from the Father. In speaking of them Christ describes them as those "whom thou hast given me." They are also his peculiar property by his own purchase, for he bought them with his precious blood on the cross of Calvary. They belong to him in the third place by their own surrender to him. These things are full of assurance and of blessing to the believer. The Father will never take back the gift he has made to the Son, the Son will never give up that which he has purchased at such awful cost, and that which is surrendered, he will never allow to be wrested from him. Christians are his own peculiar property to have and to hold and to love unto the end, or as the Revised Version has it, "to the uttermost."

As a child becomes the peculiar care of a home so the believer becomes the peculiar care of the Lord. All other cares take a secondary place. It is his care to guard his property. It sometimes seems as though the Lord dealt with his own in a hard way. This is because the Christian, like the child, does not understand the "why" of many things. Many of the seemingly hard things that come to the Christian may be but the guarding of the Lord's property from dangers unseen but to his eye. Again, it is the peculiar care of the Lord to guide his own people. He knows what lies along each pathway and when he seems to close a path which looks attractive to one of his own, that one can rest assured it is because he sees danger there or else he sees more blessing along some other road. The unknown and untold of the Lord's choosing are the ones where richest blessing lies, and happy the Christian who allows him to guide the footsteps. Once more it is his own peculiar care to provide for his own. Many are the ways he has for providing for them. Sometimes by natural, sometimes by unnatural ways, as in the case of Elijah at the brook. The ravens were called to bring meat to the prophet, and they were sent to feed Elijah just where the Lord told him to be. Had he been elsewhere he might have missed what the Lord had for him. So the Christian often misses what the Lord has for him by being out of the Lord's place. See to it that you are in God's place for you and he will see to it, though he must work a miracle, that every need of yours will be supplied.

His Own Peculiar Love.
The peculiar love of the Lord for his own covers all their shortcomings and their peculiarities. The Lord graciously warned Simon Peter of his coming time of denial, but Peter boastfully said he would lay down his life before he would leave him even when, therefore, Peter so miserably failed it might seem that the Lord's love would grow a bit cool. But in spite of the failure there was no lessening of love, there was no cooling of the affection. It was his love that was in the look that brought Peter to his repentance. Let no Christian who may have failed his Lord think that the love of Christ has cooled or been diminished. He loves with an everlasting love that many waters cannot quench. Return unto him and it will be found that having loved his own he loves them unto the end in spite of any failures. Again some are kept away from him because they seem to be so backward in learning of him. But he loves in spite of the backwardness of his disciples. Think of Philip after three years of companionship not being able to discern who he was, but had to be told, in answer to his inquiry for the Father, "he that hath seen me hath seen the Father." He knows so well the make-up of the believer that no slowness to understand can surprise him, much less make his love grow cold.

He loves his own with a peculiar love that nothing can cool or turn aside from its object.

His own peculiar property, which is his own peculiar care, is the object of his own peculiar love.

Even the unbelief of his own is not sufficient to cool the warmth or lessen the depth of his love.

Poor Thomas, the doubting one, was never loved any more truly or more deeply than in the midst of his refusal to believe in the resurrection until he had thrust his hand into the wound prints.

There is nothing that can bring to an end the love of the Lord for his own, for having loved his own he loves them unto the end; or, as the Revised Version puts it, "He loves them to the uttermost."

CONVERSION OF SAUL.

Damascus, heart of Syria, was a diamond set in emerald, her rivers, ribbons of silver. At sight of her Mohammed reigned his steed, exclaiming, "One paradise, only one for me! Enter this and I lose the one above!" One event transpiring within a stone throw of her Eastern gate eclipses all others and makes one forget even her transcendent beauty. The road makes a circuit around the spot and visitors have carried away stones as souvenirs until a deep pit has been hollowed out. What happened there made the civilization of Europe and of America then undiscovered.

A young man of ardent spirit, high social standing, great learning, has a bit of paper in his pocket, empowering him to crush the infant church in Damascus. He is thoroughly fitted for his task. Such is his eagerness to lay hands upon the converts from Jewry that he shows no pity toward man or beast in his cavalcade. The universal custom in the East would have called a long halt during the noon hours, but on he speeds.

"With lips firm closed and fixed eye, Like warrior when the fight is nigh, Nor talk nor landscape heeds."

On an instant it is as if the troop struck a barrier, invisible, indeed, but impenetrable. Brave riders are unhorsed and even the dumb brutes give sign of recognizing the supernaturalness of what is happening.

"What sudden blaze is round him poured, As though all Heaven's refulgent board,

In one rich glory shone?"

One sentence in that never-to-be-forgotten dialogue quite lifts the veil from the heart of the prostrate persecutor.

"It is for thee to kick against the pricks." So then, Saul had been resisting repeated thrusts of the goad of conscience. The very speed and fury of his long inquisitorial journey may have been a last effort to rid himself of the conviction of the Messiahship of Jesus, a conviction the seed of which was planted in the blood of the martyr Stephen. A religion that made a man's face shine like that of an angel, helped him to forgive and pray for his murderers and then to die like one falling asleep, such a religion, surely, had marks of divinity.

Commenting years afterward upon what happened to him at Damascus St. Paul said, "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision." In that word he affirms that transcendent though that circumstance was, his own volition was not destroyed in it. He might still have resisted. Had he done so the New Testament would have to be re-written and the apostle might have gone, as he probably would, to the very head of the Hebrew Establishment, but he could never have wielded an influence, second only in power, extent and permanence to that of the Founder of Christianity himself.

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN.

He reads the incident superficially who imagines that the conversion of St. Paul was an instantaneous and mechanical affair, the over-throwing of the human by the Divine. On the other hand this appearance of Jesus is a merciful approach to a noble soul in desperate straits; one whose heredity and environment are dead against the dawning conviction of the truth of the system he has set himself to destroy.

"Yet" St. Paul's old self argues "is not the religion of Moses true also? And where is it taught that it will ever be abrogated?" The very fury of his persecution of the Christians seems an effort to extricate himself from a dilemma, an effort which the Lord mercifully cuts short by the direct revelation of Himself.

Grace, if ever irresistible would seem to have been seen in St. Paul's case, but it was not! This is evident from his own word "Not disobedient." He might have been if he had so chosen. Heaven still uses mighty motives on the erring, but the human will, that ultimate element of selfhood is never violated.

Lord Littleton set himself the task of proving the conversion of St. Paul a fiction. The very effort was the cause of his own conversion and his monograph on the subject remains a Christian classic. So many a reflective mind heretofore unmoved has yielded to the power of this page.

In his choice St. Paul "lost his life," honor, power, wealth, social standing, all were gone in a moment. Instead he took membership in the church of fishermen and peasants, and undertook hardships unsurpassed. But by that choice he also "saved his life" and next to the Founder of Christianity himself stands best known and most potent to the end of time.

Great is the utility of prayer. As St. Augustine says, "Had Stephen not prayed Paul would not have preached." And if Paul himself had not prayed Ananias would have been sent to him.

The insufficiency of conscience as a guide is here demonstrated. Saul "verily thought within himself." There are consciences and consciences. One instructed, cleaned and illuminated, is reliable and only such an one.

Splendid was St. Paul's courage! As in a panorama the scenes of his future sufferings passed before him. But none of them deterred him from espousing the cause the divinity of which he was now convinced of.

An extraordinary journey this! Even the sailing of those three little ships from Palos fourteen hundred years later was not so significant.

CAPTAIN IS BLAMED FOR ARABIC SINKING

STEERED SHIP DIRECTLY TO-WARD SUBMARINE IS NEW VERSION TOLLE IN MIL-WAUKEE.

SURVIVORS TELL STORY

Acrobats Now Playing at a Milwaukee Theatre Relate Experiences in Disaster That Cost Life of Dr. Woods.

Three members of a vaudeville act which is being played this week at a Milwaukee theatre give a new version of the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic, on August 19, last, which cost the life of Dr. Edmund F. Woods of this city. According to Christopher McTamney, John Olschewski and John T. Nolan, the captain of the Arabic might have avoided the disaster had he not taken his ship directly toward the submarine. They say the submarine which fired the torpedo waited until morning that passengers and crew of the steamship might have a chance for their lives.

McTamney and Olschewski are professional acrobats known as the Flying Martins, and Nolan is their stage mechanic. They had been appearing abroad and the Arabic was the only steamer on which they could return to this country to take up engagements that had been contracted for.

Sighted Submarine Night Before

Before we sailed every body was kidding us about the submarine and telling us we would be torpedoed," said McTamney. "They didn't scare us, but we were prepared for anything that might happen and on the lookout constantly. The night before we were torpedoed we sighted the submarine on the horizon and the Arabic proceeded on its course, only zig-zagging. In the morning we sighted a ship in distress some distance away. It was a mule freighter, the Dunsley, and the captain of the Arabic headed directly for it, although we could see its crew through our glasses making away in their small boats far away on the horizon. Why the captain of the Arabic should have proceeded directly to this sinking ship I do not know. The Arabic was lying in wait just behind it. The mule freighter had been shelled, not torpedoed, and sank slowly.

Escaped in Last Boat

"We were at the rail looking toward this ship and we saw a white streak coming toward us in the water. An officer was standing nearby and I called his attention to it. He yelled through a megaphone to the captain, 'Torpedoed.' And then it hit, with a report not much louder than a revolver shot. It must have torn an awful hole in the Arabic for we began to sink immediately. The lifeboats were ready, however, and were launched quickly, fourteen of them.

"Three of the boats were overturned in launching, and we were in the last one to get safely away. There were no officers in our boat and I took charge until we were picked up by a warship five weeks later. We saved several persons who were foundering in the water.

Didn't Shoot Till Morning

"The sinking of the Arabic was a terrible sight. The big ship listed heavily to one side, at first we thought it would roll over. Then it slowly righted and began to sink. From formation at one time about 200 feet of the boat was up in the air. Then suddenly there was a terrific explosion from the boilers, no doubt, and she went down. Actually, we are not over the shock wave, and it seems to me that the submarine could have torpedoed us the night before it did, although it is not an easy matter to shoot in the dark. But it seemed to want to give us as much chance as possible for our lives, and so waited until morning and daylight."

WORK OF MEDICAL CLINIC SUCCESSFUL AT UNIVERSITY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Madison, March 31.—Preventing disease and checking epidemics at the University of Wisconsin through the university clinic during the past six months, has been busy work. The total enrollment of the university is the present time 4,868. Seven doctors and four nurses have been employed at the university during that time, and a total of 27,500 office consultations and 7,300 house and hospital visits have been taken care of. Since 1913, the clinic has decreased the time lost by students in illnesses from eight to ten days each to about two and one-half days in 1915.

MANY KILLED, SCORES INJURED, WHEN TRAINS CRASH ON LAKE SHORE ROAD

Thirty persons were killed and scores were injured in the Lake Shore train wreck at Amherst, Ohio, early Wednesday morning. These pictures, showing the effects of the disaster, were taken Wednesday forenoon, before any of the debris had been cleared away.

The wreck was one of those rarest of railroad calamities—not one collision, but two, involving three trains, on two tracks. When the half dozen investigations now under way are concluded, the blame will be fixed on some luckless railroad employee. A block signal, set suddenly and without warning, against a train speeding along eastward with another train following in the next "block" lies at the bottom of the doubt that exists as to the real cause of the wreck.

VACATION PROGRAM AT "Y" IS FULL OF FUN FOR MEMBERS

Something Will Be Doing All the Time for Members of Boys' Division During Vacation at "Y."

With spring vacation coming next week for the students of the Janesville public schools, the officers of the Young Men's Christian Association have planned a full schedule of activities for every day next week. Something will be doing all the time and the members of the association will have a live time. Boys' Secretary H. J. Center and C. E. Leak, the physical director, have been working on the program for the past few days, and it is now posted on the bulletin board in the boys' room.

Go to Beloit. On Monday the members of the H-Y club will go down to Beloit to visit the Line City association. A special program has been arranged by the Beloit H-Y members. They will engage in a bowling tournament, pocket billiards and a swimming meet. They will leave at nine o'clock in the morning and return on the six o'clock car. At home the gymnasium will be open for the juniors from two to three-thirty, and from three-thirty to five o'clock for the cadets. At six o'clock the employed boys' discussion group will meet at a banquet supper the meeting following immediately after the eat.

Tuesday the members will enjoy a good out-door day. At nine-thirty-five the groups will leave for a blind trail trip and a breakfast and potato roast for dinner. The Black Hawk tribe will meet at eleven o'clock on this day for their regular meeting and the gymnasium will be open for the different groups. The H-Y club will be postponed for one week.

The gym will be open all day Wednesday and special things have been planned for amusement. At nine-thirty o'clock in the morning the high school fellows will start out on a big hare and hunt chase. The high school and juniors will use the gymnasium in the afternoon. In the evening the members of the newsboys' club will enjoy a social at seven o'clock, at which all members should be present.

Bike Ride. On Thursday all members should be present for the bike ride which will start from the building at nine-thirty o'clock in the morning. The Beloit bunch will also be on their ride this day and the two groups will meet halfway between here and Beloit and indulge in a "hot dog" roast. There will be no expense and every boy owning a wheel should be on the job. The building will be open all day and the bike clubs will meet on their scheduled time.

A day in the pool will be spent on Friday for the high school bunch, and activities will be on hand for the other classes. The events in the pool are as follows: Award for the worst dive with the worst form; funniest face dash up and down the pool; penny scramble with least pennies on the fellow securing the least number of pennies. In the gym the cabinet members will engage in basketball contests and the boys' room will be open for the juniors from two to three-thirty, and from three-thirty to five o'clock for the cadets. At six o'clock the employed boys' discussion group will meet at a banquet supper the meeting following immediately after the eat.

On the last day of vacation the Janesville association will give a rousing time for the Beloit H-Y club members who will be the guests of the day. Every member of the local H-Y organization and all the high school fellows should be on hand to "show Beloit how Janesville does it." There will be aquatic stunts and games in the gym, and the Beloit bunch will sure have a good time.

JANESVILLE GREYS ORGANIZE FOR 1916

Fast Team of Last Year to Again Enter Field.—Meet Red Sox on April Ninth.

The Janesville Greys baseball team is being organized for the season and as during the 1915 season a strong aggregation will be in the local field. Manager Carl Meyer is lining up prospective candidates for positions and already has a number of well known local players for the Greys. Meyer's team will play its first game on April 9. Their opponents will be the Janesville Red Sox, that whirlwind combination of youngsters who during the past season finished the season with a clean slate and nineteen victories to their credit. This contest is meant more for a practice workout for both teams and will have no bearing on other games to be played later when the city championship in this class is at stake, should either team continue in the running. The Greys and the Sox have also scheduled a second game to be played at an early date.

Baseball team managers desiring names with the Greys can call Carl Meyer, Old Phone No. 1208.

K. P. OPEN MEETING A DECIDED SUCCESS

E. C. Gottry of Milwaukee Gives Address on Meaning of the Organization.

Over seventy-five were present at the open meeting held by the Janesville K. P. Chapter at the Castle Hall on Wednesday evening. The meeting was marked by excellent addresses by two state officials of the organization. During the evening luncheon was served, guests entertained by the Lakota club quartet, other musical selections, and the social meeting and smoker was most thoroughly enjoyed. E. C. Gottry of Milwaukee and C. P. Libby gave the principal addresses.

TAFT URGES MAYOR TO REPRESENT CITY AT BIG PEACE MEET

Ex-President Wants Fathers Present at National Assembly to Enforce Future World Peace.

Ex-President William H. Taft has asked Mayor J. A. Fathers, it was announced yesterday, to represent this city at the first national annual assembly of the League to Enforce Peace to be held at Washington on Friday and Saturday, May 25 and 27. Mr. Taft is President of the League. The League to Enforce Peace has a platform of four proposals, the main feature of which is contained in the third which provides that the joint armed forces of the great powers be used against any nation or nations who refuse to keep an agreement to try arbitration or conciliation before going to war. The other three proposals are: an international court, an international council of conciliation, and a code of international law.

Mr. Taft's letter inviting the Mayor to be present at the Washington conference, also asks him to appoint delegates thereto, and points out that the Taft League is "no-stop-the-war movement, no anti-preparedness movement, no peace-at-any-price movement, but an earnest effort by practical men to bring about, after the close of the European war, co-operation among the nations which will tend to make peace more permanent and war less probable." Mr. Taft's letter is as follows:

"My dear sir: The First Annual Assembly of the League to Enforce Peace will be held in the city of Washington on Friday and Saturday, May 25th and 27th, with the purpose of devising and determining upon measures for giving effect to the proposals for a league of nations to enforce peace that were adopted at a conference held last June in Philadelphia. This is no stop-the-war movement, no anti-preparedness movement, no peace-at-any-price endeavor. It represents an earnest effort by practical men to bring about, after the close of the European war, co-operation among the nations which will tend to make peace more permanent and war less probable. The governors of states, the mayors of cities and the more important business organizations of the nation are appointing delegates to this meeting.

"You are invited to be present and to appoint one or more commissioners to represent your city in the assembly. The task of providing such sanctions for international law and treaties as can be obtained is the most important and urgent matter before the world and one for which America has peculiar responsibility. I earnestly hope that we may have your co-operation in it."

Mr. Taft has sent a similar invitation to Governor E. L. Phillips, asking him to represent the state personally and to send state delegates to the Washington conference.

The formal platform of the Taft League as adopted in Independence hall last night follows:

"We believe it to be desirable for the United States to join a League of Nations binding the signatories to the following:

"First. All justifiable questions arising between the signatory powers, not settled by negotiation, shall, subject to the limitations of treaties, be submitted to a judicial tribunal for settlement and one for which America has peculiar responsibility. I earnestly hope that we may have your co-operation in it."

Second. All other questions arising between the signatories (and not settled by negotiation, shall be submitted to a Council of Conciliation for hearing, consideration and recommendation.

Third. The signatory powers shall jointly enforce, forthwith, BOTH THEIR ECONOMIC AND MILITARY FORCES AGAINST ANY ONE OF THEIR NUMBER THAT GOES TO WAR, or commits acts of hostility against another of the signatories, before any question arising shall be submitted as provided in the foregoing.

"No provision is made for the enforcement of the decree, however. Under the plan nations may fight after arbitration, or dissatisfaction.

Fourth. Conferences between the signatory powers shall be held from time to time to formulate and codify rules of international law, which, unless some signatory shall signify its dissent within a stated period, shall thereafter govern in the decisions of the Judicial Tribunal mentioned in article one.

CUB RECRUITS MAY REPLACE VETERANS UNDER TINKER RULE

Federal League Players May Have an Edge on Old Cub Members—A Wnt More Speed.

Tampa, Fla., March 31.—That there is a chance for youngsters to break into the regular lineup of the 1916 Cubs is quite evident after watching the Tinker squad in training at the Tampa camp. If the team of veterans lacks anything, it is speed; and as speed is needed these days, it looks as if one or two of the fast young players on the squad may displace one or two of the veterans.

Manager Tinker was convinced of the necessity of getting more speed on the team after he had been beaten seven games in a row by Pat Moran's champion Phillies. It was the first time Tinker had ever seen young Shortstop Bancroft of the Phillies in action, and he saw one of the greatest men at that position he ever had looked at. The activity of Bancroft alone caused Tinker to make a switch in his own lineup, for he realized he would have to live up to his bunch if he expected to compete on an even basis with the champions.

Mulligan May Be Regular. Consequently he took the veteran Mike Doolan off the infield job and put in young Eddie Mulligan, a boy who appears to have as much speed as the youthful Philadelphia star. It should not be surprising if Mulligan is the regular of the Cubs this year, for although he is inexperienced, having had only a brief spell in the Three B's league, he shows up as well now on the inside things of the game as many of the stars who have played in the big league for two or three seasons. Of course Doolan has not been able to round into form as quickly as he did in other years, and whether Mulligan will be able to hold the job after the veteran star gets into shape is quite another thing. Mike has had a sore arm ever since the season of practice, while Mulligan got his arm in throwing in about two days. So far Mulligan has shown about equal hitting strength with the veteran, and he is one of the fastest base runners on the squad.

Cubs May Get Slow Start. On the whole, though, it looks as if the 1916 Cubs will be a team slow to get into its stride. The fans of Chicago need not feel discouraged if the Cubs fail to get away in front in the pennant race. If they are able to keep within a few games of the top-juniors until June the Cubs are likely to get going then and be in front long before the season is over.

Tinker feels sure that he has batting strength, as much power in that department as any team in the league. He is sure of his defense as far as catching, infelding, and out-felding are concerned. He thinks he may have the greatest pitching staff in the league too, but in order to have it several of his veteran slabs-men will have to regain old time form. So far the pitching has been far below that turned out by the Phillies staff.

Zim's Spirit Pleases Tinker. One thing that has pleased Tinker ever since training began is the spirit and enthusiasm of Heinie Zim-merman, his star batter and great third baseman. Heinie has the ability to be as great a player as any one in the National league, and never before has he taken baseball as seriously as he seems to take it this spring. So far he hasn't had a word of discord with the manager, something quite unusual. At the same time he is hustling more in the practice games down here than he did in many of the championship games under other managers.

The problem of picking the eight or nine pitchers to be carried through the season is still unsolved. It is likely that it will be unsolved even when the season opens. So far the men in best shape for work are Mike Prendergast, Gene Packard, Jim Lavender and George McConnell.

Indications are that Jim Vaughn will be a much better pitcher than he was last season. He has shown an entirely different spirit than he did a year ago, and besides that, is twelve or fifteen pounds lighter than he was at the close of the 1915 season. Under those conditions it looks as if the big southpaw is sure of making good, as no one has more stuff than Vaughn when he is in shape.

Of the other left handers, Packard is sure to be kept. Bailey and Pierce seem to be uncertain, as neither is in shape yet to go at top speed. Bailey was a great pitcher for Tinker last year, and Pierce was about the leader of the west side staff.

EHLER RESIGNATION ACCEPTED AT U. OF W.

Board of Regents Not Backward In Accepting Resignation of Ehler, Head of Athletic Department.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, March 31.—George W. Ehler, athletic director at the University of Wisconsin for the past several years, has resigned, and his resignation has been accepted by the board of regents. The regents met on Thursday afternoon and, among other athletic subjects, discussed the case of Mr. Ehler, who has been hanging fire for some months. Ehler has been accused of using poor judgment in handling athletic affairs, and the regents invited him to resign several times. His resignation was received today and acted upon at once.

New Appointments. Mr. Ehler will leave the university at the close of the present school year. Thomas E. Jones, freshman football and varsity track coach, was appointed as acting chairman of the department for the coming year. W. E. Meanwell, the basketball mentor, was appointed as director of gymnastics, and Miss Blanche E. Trilling was named as head of the athletic activities for women.

"Cub" Buck, ex-captain of the varsity eleven, and all-American tackle last year, was appointed today as one of the three assistant coaches to aid Dr. Paul O. Withington in rounding out a title eleven next fall. Buck will work with John Doherty and E. W. Soucy, both Harvard men, taking care of the tackles and guards. Buck will receive $600, Doherty $800 and Soucy $1,500.

The regents voted to have the university council reorganized. HAMMER THE BLONDE TIGER FIGHTS WOLGAST AT RACINE (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Racine, Wis., March 31.—Ever Hammer and Ad Wolgast will be the chief attractions on one of Racine's best boxing cards of the season tonight. Both fighters have been doing their training in Chicago and as Hammer is a big favorite in the Windy city there will be a large following of Chicago fighters to attend the bouts.

JANESVILLE FIVE STEPS INTO FIRST PLACE IN TOURNNEY

Millers' Team No. 1 Gets Score of 2616 in Five Man Event Last Night and Get First Place. Twenty-five hundred and seventy-eight is no longer the record for the five man class in the big southern Wisconsin bowling tournament which is about to close at the Miller alleys tomorrow night. Millers' team No. 1 got in action last night and made 2616 of the unlucky maples fall into the record set by the Watertown and Madison bowlers. They did come back strong in the last event and secured 892 pins. This puts them in first place for the five man event and the total number of pins that they knocked over amounted to 853.

In the doubles Johnson and Miller from Beloit jumped into fourth place when they received a score of 1,101. Cornell and A. Pye of Clinton did not and any pin but in three games they knocked one thousand and thirteen pins over. Janesville artists who rolled in the double class did not do very good and none of them went much over the nine hundred mark.

In the single class both Clinton, Beloit and Janesville bowlers rolled for honors. Cornell of Clinton was the only one of the bunch to secure a place and he was in the seventh position with a score of 555. All the entrants of the tournament will have rolled in the different events by tomorrow night. Possibly tonight tomorrow the Kandy Kids from Madison and the Lewis Branch team from Rockford will appear and roll in the five man class. Scores:

WESTLING MATCH STAGED IN MADISON AT TURNER HALL (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Madison, Wis., March 31.—Wildred Barrette, Detroit, will meet Walter Abel of this city at Turner hall tonight in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match.

START WORK ON STADIUM OF CONCRETE FOR BADGER ATHLETICS AT MADISON (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, March 31.—Actual work in shifting the soil for the construction of the new stadium at the University of Wisconsin, has been commenced. There will be no catastrophe as the one which occurred last fall when many spectators were injured and the Wisconsin-Minnesota football contest, because of poorly erected stands. The new stands will be built on a natural hill with a foundation of the best type.

The new stand will, when completed, be four hundred feet in length, with forty rows erected on the hill. At least ten thousand people can be accommodated. The present plans are to erect but fourteen of the forty rows, giving accommodations to but 3,500 people. The new stand will be patterned from the Yale bowl, although it will not be a complete circle. A concrete stand for the band will be built separately, and a large press stand will be partitioned from the regular stand. Only concrete will be used in erecting the new stadium.

The New Orleans club, having failed to get Jay Kirke from Cleveland, Manager Fohl having turned his former first baseman over to Milwaukee, is now asking for Jack Greany, and it is hinted that the outfielder will be left in the Crescent City when the Indians come north.

SOX TO PLAY COLTS IN FIRST BALL GAME

Janesville Red Sox Organize With Stronger Lineup This Year Than Last Season.

"Play ball!" The joyful, welcome sound of the baseball meeting the "little old hat" will be heard Sunday afternoon at the fair grounds, without the weather man develops an unexpected grouch, when the Janesville Red Sox and Bud Spohn's Colts meet in the first real game of the season in this city. The youngsters have been anxious to play the grand old game and both nines have a star bunch of players to put into the field.

Possibly there will be some glaring errors, boots and "boners" from the lack of practice, but at least it will be baseball, and any kind of game would be appreciated to start the season off. The Red Sox last year won the championship in their division, winning nineteen straight games and losing only their last contest. This year they have strengthened their team and consequently will go up against better nines than they scheduled a year ago. Herb Kakuske, George Berger and George Viney are three pitchers that the Sox have secured for the hurling department. Spohn and Jackson will do the catching. Miller will play the initial sack and the Sox were fortunate to secure Sullivan for the keystone sack. Sullivan is an experienced and mighty fast player, and will help the youngsters in manifold ways. McGinley will play at third. The fielders will be composed of Roberly, Viney, Berger, Eberhard and Fullerton.

The Red Sox wish to challenge any team in their class for Sunday and holiday contests. Write C. S. Roberly, 608 Chestnut street.

FULL LAKOTA TEAM FOR WHITING GAME

Fans Expect to See Lakotas Beat Crack Indiana Champions in Game on Saturday Night.

With Young, McCaffery, along with Edler, Dalton, Atwood and Hemming in the lineup, the Lakotas will be ready for the Whiting Colts of Whiting, Indiana in the game to be played at the Auditorium Saturday night. Providing that the Lakotas make good their promises to beat Fogarty's five the next week, the champions' claims of the Janesville Colts hinge on the result of the game with the Whiting five.

The Whiting team know that they are going to meet the best team in Wisconsin when they play the Lakotas, and in a letter received this week stated that they were willing to settle title claims on the result of the game. They have won thirty-three games out of thirty-four and their reputation as a winning basketball team extends from coast to coast. Without a doubt they are better known in basketball circles than any team that has played on the Lakota floor this season, or at least with the exception of Troy, New York.

C. V. Humphreys, manager of the Owls, wrote that a "number of fans will accompany the team, but neither this means fans or money is not known. The Lakotas will not play at Stoughton Friday night, because of the hard game to follow on Saturday night. The team will probably line up Hemming, center; Atwood, Young and possibly McCaffery, forwards; Edler and Dalton, guards. Without the Whiting five are stronger than anticipated, and it is admitted they are a crack club, the Janesville fans cannot see where they can beat the combination as named.

Complaint was received over the roughness in the Rockford-Lakota game last Saturday and this usual rough play is explained from the rivalry between the two teams. Stricter enforcements of the rules is demanded on Saturday night's game, for while the spectators desire to see spirited basketball, they do not care to see football on a basketball floor. The line-up of the Whiting team will be: Forwards, Gevritz and Kinzel; center, Viter; guards, Exton and J. Bartuska, and E. Bartuska. William Langdon will referee.

METHODISTS HAVE EASY TIME WITH MILTON JCT. "V" GROUP LAST NIGHT

In an exciting basketball contest at the high school last night between the Methodist church five and the Milton Junction Y. M. C. A. group, the local church squad defeated the visitors by a score of 30 to 12. The fast church bunch were in fine condition last night and never before did their team work so good together.

Rufus Mills, the Notre Dame university pitcher who broke into the professional game with the Newark team of the Federal league last year, has been assigned to play first base for the Toronto International league team.

The Chattanooga club announces the signing of Pitcher Charles Smith, one of the Chicago Cubs and lately with San Francisco, and Wilson Collins, the former Vanderbilt university star, who was for a time with the Boston Braves.

WESTLING MATCH STAGED IN MADISON AT TURNER HALL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Madison, Wis., March 31.—Wildred Barrette, Detroit, will meet Walter Abel of this city at Turner hall tonight in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match.

START WORK ON STADIUM OF CONCRETE FOR BADGER ATHLETICS AT MADISON

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) Madison, March 31.—Actual work in shifting the soil for the construction of the new stadium at the University of Wisconsin, has been commenced. There will be no catastrophe as the one which occurred last fall when many spectators were injured and the Wisconsin-Minnesota football contest, because of poorly erected stands. The new stands will be built on a natural hill with a foundation of the best type.

The new stand will, when completed, be four hundred feet in length, with forty rows erected on the hill. At least ten thousand people can be accommodated. The present plans are to erect but fourteen of the forty rows, giving accommodations to but 3,500 people. The new stand will be patterned from the Yale bowl, although it will not be a complete circle. A concrete stand for the band will be built separately, and a large press stand will be partitioned from the regular stand. Only concrete will be used in erecting the new stadium.

The New Orleans club, having failed to get Jay Kirke from Cleveland, Manager Fohl having turned his former first baseman over to Milwaukee, is now asking for Jack Greany, and it is hinted that the outfielder will be left in the Crescent City when the Indians come north.

-your clothes are as personal as these

Somehow or other, though one classes one's tooth brush, razor or comb and brush as personal possessions, one's clothes are not so regarded.

Yet, clothes are every whit as personal and should be so made that the personality is properly brought out and developed.

The individual methods of custom tailoring so develop that personality—and the advantages thus gained cannot be over-rated.

Your made-to-measure clothes are best made by The Continental Tailors
